work for the people.

Management Software Solutions

When our nation was founded more than two-and-a-quarter centuries ago, it was built on a fundamental principle—the idea that many voices, united, can achieve what couldn't be accomplished otherwise. At Computer Associates, we too understand the importance of coordinated effort. That's why we've been creating management software solutions for more than twenty-eight years that enable the systems of different government agencies to work together across platforms. So the entire government can serve all citizens as efficiently and effectively as possible. To find out more about how the management software experts can help government agencies succeed, go to ca.com/federal.
